

A community left behind

Dorothea Lange/Library of Congress

A dust bowl farmer and his young son driving their tractor near Cland, New Mexico. Rural America has one fifth of the nation's population, but only one tenth of its physicians. Rural communities continue to be poor in health care resources.